

Partner: Code Green

South Yorkshire based Code Green (previously known as TCL) was formed in 2006 as part of a joint venture between Bull Information Systems Limited and Barnsley Metropolitan Council.

Code Green is responsible for delivering the Council's IT operations. Among other achievements, this partnership laid the foundation for improving the delivery of Council services to Barnsley's residents.

While already providing internet and data services to the education sector across Barnsley and the surrounding area, Code Green recognised that there was an opportunity to expand their existing service to offer schools greater choice.

When it came to selecting a broadband provider-partner, Schools Broadband was the natural choice for Code Green. Their innovative cloud-based solution offered by far the best firewall security and flexible web filtering services on the market. The other providers just didn't match up.

During the onboarding process, Schools Broadband aided us fully in the completion of all the regulatory compliance paperwork and their Sales Director was proactive in ensuring that we had all the help we needed to get up and running, including organising training for our sales, support and school liaison staff.

We are now proud to say we have over 100 of our schools using this service with many more expected to transfer over in the near future.

Rachel Ruston
Head of education Services, Code Green

01133 222 333

info@schoolsbbroadband.co.uk

